• OVERVIEW •

Pink Lake Flyover Scenic Tour

Hutt Lagoon, also known as Pink Lake, is a rare and magical lake on the coastline of Western Australia. Pink Lake is a salt lake in the Mid West region of Western Australia. The lake is not always pink but the distinctive colour of the water changes as a result of green alga Dunaliella salina, halobacterium Halobacteria cutirubrum, and/or high concentration of brine prawn.

Pink Lake Flyover Scenic Tour

This trip will allow you to enjoy the beautiful coastal line en route. You will see the town of Horrocks which is a very little fishing village near Northampton.

You will be amazed how big the Pink Lake is! It is 14 km long and around 2.3 km wide, which makes it be the biggest Pink Lake in Australia. Enjoy it from the air is the best way to get the best view and shooting! You will see the contrast of the ocean color and the pink color, which you will never see from the ground.
